Bismarck wrote that "a really great man is known by three signs — generosity in design, humanity in the execution, and moderation in success." The world has far too many unsung heroes — those for whom proper recognition is not frequent enough in the coming. Each year the students of Chowan College vote to recognize one to whom such acknowledgement should come.

The one being so honored with the dedication of the 1979 CHOWANOKA is now completing more than fifteen years of service to our institution. During these continuous years of service, it is doubtful that any area of the college community has not felt the impact of his presence. From athletic events to dramatic productions, from the classroom to the chapel, from mass assemblies to individual conferences, this man has lived the dedication he maintains for his home and family, for his profession, and for his God.

The enthusiasm exerted for his work is never superficial, and the sincerity with which he approaches a variety of tasks is obvious. Those who are privileged to know him find that his advice is sound based upon good sense and judgment and his concern is ever genuine. Faculty, students, staff and administrators respect him, for his life portrays a loyal friendship enveloped in peace and good will which has endeared him to many.

Therefore, it is in grateful recognition of his worthy contributions to Chowan College, his unselfish service which has lifted the quality of life for so many, and his dedication to the high calling of serving youth that we dedicate this edition of THE CHOWANOKA to our Chaplain, Dr. R. Hargus Taylor.

THEME

Chowan College began as the Chowan Baptist Female Institute in Murfreesboro N.C. in the year 1848. Dr. Godwin C. Moore is credited as the founder of the college and served on the Board of Trustees until his death in 1880.

Murfreesboro itself was originally a landing site on the Meherrin River called Murfrees Landing because the site served the farmland of William Murfree. In 1786, William Murfree donated 97 acres of land for the establishment of a town, and in 1787 the town charter of Murfreesboro was ratified. Pure water, natural drainage and the Chowan River as transportation aided Murfreesboro in quickly becoming the leading town in Hertford County.

In the late 1700's the nation was recovering from the expenses of the War of Independence and therefore could provide little public schooling. Most educational facilities were funded privately by the local residents. The Hertford Academy was begun in 1794, the first incorporated school in the county. Then the Buckhorn Academy was founded in 1847 in the present community of Como. The late 1840's saw the development of several schools, such as the Wesleyan Female College, Chowan Baptist Female College (both in Murfreesboro), and the Union Academy and Wesleyan Female College, both failed; only Chowan continued under the aid of the West Chowan Baptist Association, the leading group of Baptists in Hertford County. This is the same association which had aided and supported Wake Forest Institute in February of 1834.

It became apparent to Dr. Godwin C. Moore in the late 1840's that another institute of higher learning was needed for women now that Union Academy had relocated out of Murfreesboro. Dr. Moore had been a trustee of Wake Forest College, the first Baptist college of North Carolina since 1836.

Besides needing books, buildings, and faculty, the need to educate women was put forth by Dr. Moore. The ante-bellum period in North Carolina was no different from that of any other southern state. Women were mastered by their husbands — they could not own property, sue or be sued, or make a will without their husbands' permission. Surprisingly, it was the church who came to the aid of many schools who wished to educate women. From such roots Chowan Baptist Female Institute began.

Murfreesboro became the designated site of the college; therefore buildings had to be purchased in the area. The first such purchase was the Banks' School buildings, which were formerly used as a girls' school. They were purchased for $1,225 and were repaired for immediate use. Archibald McDowall, a Wake Forest graduate, was engaged by Dr. Moore as Chowan's first acting president.

On October 11, 1848, Chowan Baptist Female Institute opened and registered eleven students. Gradually, girls came by boat and mule until enrollment increased to forty-seven. The first five month session at Chowan cost $113, which included room, board, tuition and extras. (Present Chowan students are known to spend as much per semester for books alone.)

In order to "promote habits of economy and simplicity" in the girls, uniforms were required of the girls (made with materials from local merchants) and expensive jewelry was prohibited. They were also required to attend church in Murfreesboro every Sunday.

The school grew in size and curricula, with many church associations aiding the institute. In 1937 it became apparent to the Board of Trustees that Chowan could not operate as an accredited senior institution under contemporary standards. Chowan closed during the World War II, then re-opened as a junior college a few years later. In the early 1950's, several vocational courses were offered, such as bookkeeping, business, and secretarial studies. The Raleigh News and Observer donated to Chowan a Linotype machine, which created the Graphic Arts Department, with John McSweeney as instructor.

A joint-stock company was formed in the early 1850's to finance construction of the college. The first such building was the Columns Building, constructed at a cost of $15,724.73; in November of 1852 it was ready for use. Salaries for faculty were paid out of the companies' revenues, with the president receiving $2,000 annually, the mathematics professor $1,000 annually, with other positions receiving less, as of 1868. Other expenses were met by fund drives, of which the townspeople of Murfreesboro contributed heavily.

The need for new facilities was constant. The Columns building was soon outmoded and an extension was added in 1923. Stone Cottage, was built for $2,600 in 1914. The F. O. Mixon dormitory for men was constructed in 1954 at a cost of $77,434. The Askew Student Union was built in 1956, along with the Green Science Building, Jenkins Hall, a women's dormitory, was constructed in 1958 for $300,000. Construction has continued to the present, with four men's dormitories on campus and a new $2.3 million dollar gymnasium project underway. Chowan, as in the past, strives to build on its reputation and prepare for the future.

ACTIVITIES

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION

Each year at Chowan College a reception is held in President Whitaker's home for the new and transfer students. The students meet many of the faculty members — so many in fact, that one feels as if he has shaken the hand of every single Chowan employee. The students also meet their fellow students, many for the first time. When you weren't shaking hands or drinking punch (which was rather good) you were listening to music provided by several students. Many a sophomore attended to check out the new students or line up a date for the dance later that week. The reception went until late in the evening, and one wonders how many times did Dean Winslow say, "How are you? I'm Roy Winslow and this is my wife, Laura..."

Dances

Dances were held at Chowan a number of times this year. They were sponsored and paid for by the Student Government Association and were held in Thomas Cafeteria. Most of the dances were highly attended by students and well enjoyed. The SGA also sponsored the sale of soft-drinks but no admission was charged. Three of the bands were: Bill Deal and the Rondells, Fat Ammons Band and Staircase.

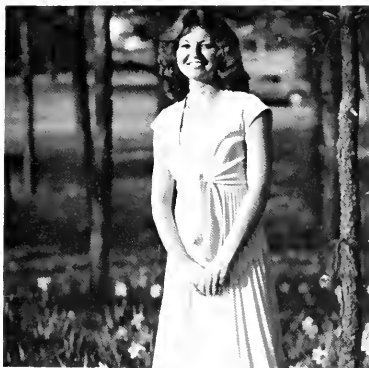

Spring Festival Candidates

Martha McGraw, Parker

This year Spring Festival was held the week of April 23-28. The festivities began with free movies from Monday through Friday. The activities included tug-o-war, volleyball, softball, frisbee horseshoes, egg toss, three-legged race, buck-buck, and a cutest legs contest for male faculty members. Music was provided by WWDR, the Brian Smith Band, Karen Field and Becky Kever. The activities were ended with the showing of the movie, "The Wiz." Art exhibits were set up in Daniel and Green Halls and a photography exhibit was displayed in McSweeney Hall. Spring Festival concluded with a semi-formal dance at 9:00 p.m. with music by "Buster."

Students After Hours

Day by day students rack their brains and fill their minds with the knowledge they need to pass tests and learn skills, but students don't spend all day and night in the books. One of the favorite after hours entertainment for Chowan students was and still is "The Light." It is a supposedly ghost light which haunts a section of railroad tracks near the school. Hundreds upon hundreds of students have visited the tracks in search of the origin of the mysterious light but no one has ever achieved their goal. The light is supposed to be caused by a ghost named Uncle George, who lost his head in an accident and searches for it with his lantern nightly. Maybe one day someone will discover the cause of the light, but until then, the light still attracts the attention of students who look for a little excitement after a long day of studying.

The first major production of the Chowan Players was "Arsenic and Old Lace", a play in three acts which was written by Joseph Kesseling with special arrangements with Dramatic Play Service, Inc. It was acted on December 6, 7, and 8. There was a large attendance including members of the neighboring High Schools and a few Chowan Professors. One of the special quests was a teacher who had directed the same play when Ms. Boyce performed in it in college.

The cast member and the part he or she played are as follows: Mrs. Betty Batchelor — Abby Brewster; Greg Andrassy — The Rev. Dr. Harper; Gerg Simpson — Teddy Brewster; Johnny Carstens — Officer Brophy; Alan Johnson — Officer Klein; Mrs. Esther Whitaker — Martha Brewster; Teresa Calfee — Elaine Harper; Ken Boaz — Mortimer Brewster; David Baker — Jonathan Brewster; Taghi Noktehdan — Dr. Einstein; Laura Askew — Officer O'Hara; Bill Gambrell, Lieutenant Rooney; and Jean Sexton as Witherspoon.

The audience sees only the actors and actresses, but back stage there is more than just performers. The crew members were: Melanie Pattisall, Assistant to the Director; John Hawthorne, Stage Manager; Fran Morris, Publicity; William Ross, Lights; Myrtle Hubley, Eileen Despagna, Haywood Jordon, and Alan Johnson, Props; Barbara Foster, Make-up; Melody Player, Costumer; Suzanne Bradley, Gayle Bonifas and Matthew Hicks, Ushers; Joe Curry, Betsy Paffe, and Matthew Hicks, Set Decorators; and Betsy Paffe, Program. The play, in its entirety was produced and directed by Sandra N. Boyce.

Intramurals

Intramurals at Chowan give the students a chance to participate in sports without going through the hassle of practice or tryouts. Each willing student has the opportunity to play football, volleyball, basketball, and softball with their dorm floor. Also, the individual students can take place in tennis tournaments; both singles and doubles, or run cross-country track. Each team victory or individual victory scores points for the floor as an entirety. At the end of the year, the floor with the most points will receive the intramural championship trophy to be placed in a trophy case in their name. At right: Cris Adams pauses from a rough game.

Students

Known to the students as Lucy, Mrs. Bertsch checks ID's daily in the cafeteria line. She is a native of New York City. Coming from a family of 14 children, she knows what it's like to wait for meals. Before coming to Chowan, she worked at a YMCA for 6½ years serving the front desk and teaching arts and crafts. Lucy is a gourmet cook and an avid speedreader — she reads 2 books a day, mainly historical and biographical novels. Above all young people dominate her attention at present. "I love the students, or I wouldn't be working here," she says. "My mind is still young — youth are my thing." Where will she go after Chowan? She hopes to work for a hospital or charitable organization. She makes one think that there's more to the lady who checks your ID than you expect.

Organizations

SGA Executive Board

The SGA executive officers were elected by a campus-wide election last year. The executive officers work with and supervise the Student Legislature and are the direct channel to the administration. All executive officers were members of the Faculty-Student Relations committee and met in conferences with members of the administration to discuss problems between students and the administration. Members of the executive board attended the Student Leadership Workshop and several attended Camp Caraway where they met with SGA officers from other colleges.

Fourth Row: Alice Vann, Sponsor, Joanne Collins, Randy Pope, Brian Miller. Fifth Row: Scott White, Robin Minton, Robert Lumpkins, Bill Cowper.

SGA Legislature

The Student Legislature is composed of one representative elected from each hall. The Student Legislature provided several popular movies per month. They had several dances by live bands each semester. The Legislature sponsored special events such as Homecoming, Spring Festival, and Parents' Day. They also had several speakers on campus. The Legislature had Ron Thompson and Larry Lassiter come to a meeting to discuss problems students were expressing about the cafeteria. The Legislature also had Mrs. Harris come to another meeting to discuss the Library. The Student Legislature had a jukebox placed in the snackbar. They also requested a campus-wide open dorm and soon after held an opinion poll. Although the majority of students voted in favor of Open Dorm, only a minority of the student body voted. Based on these results, the Legislature requested approval of Open Dorm by the administration, however the request was denied. The Legislature also sponsored a candidate from Chowan to represent the school in the Apple Blossom Festival.

There are some sections of this annual, particularly the "Organizations" section, that are not as complete as the staff would like. This is due to the fact that all "Organizations" material turned into the former section editor (photos, copy, layouts and even a proof book!) suddenly disappeared following that editors withdrawal from the college at Spring Mid-Term. This left the present editor with seven months work to complete in two weeks.

The purpose of the Social Science Club is to help students see how they are influenced by society and how they in turn can have a impact upon their society. The activities of the club include programs on topics of political and social interest and participation in community service projects such as donating labor or collecting for relief, mowing lawns or putting up storm windows. Fund-raising projects such as selling peanuts, are for donations to charity or trips to see state or national Representatives. The club gives an award each year on Honors Day.

Coach Garrison— "Our football team this year was a very young team at the start of the year and even though we had some key sophomore coming in, I never dreamed we would have as outstanding a football team as we had this past year. As it turned out, the ball club that we had was one of the finest ever that's put on a uniform at Chowan College.

Offensively, we led most of the statistics in the conference in scoring and rushing and total offense. Defensively we were real young and as the year went on we got better and as a result led most of the statistical categories in defense as well. This team in comparison to that a year ago percentagewise we had a better record...and certainly with the lack of experience we would have to classify this past football team as a better one than the year before. With so many still another improvement is our record in 1979."

Coach Hawkins— "Personality wise, we had many different types on the team... most were really "gungho" or really out to do the best job that they could. Emotionally we had a real fine team — most of the times the kids were "up" for the games. We had a little let down after our Ferrum game because at that time we were 3-0 as a result of that they were ready for the game with Ferrum... when we lost that one some of the fellas had a let-down because they felt 'We've lost this and can't win the national title.' They soon got back on the right key and we finished up the season with a great team effort and a great record. Especially in our last few games we played with great intensity."

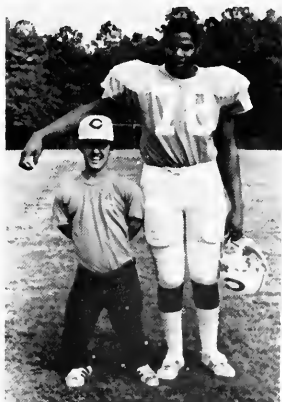

Coach Ferguson— "We're probably better off as far as the defensive front as we've ever been, particularly with size. This is my fourth year here and I'd have to say as far as the job they got done this year, the line this year has been better than any other year.

We had a whole lot more size this year, particularly up front. In the secondary, we shouldn't have been as good as we were last year — I don't think we rivaled last years' secondary due to the fact that we're mainly inexperienced. Next year, in 1979, we'll probably be better than we were last year... right now we only started one sophomore back there and that's pretty tough. We had a lot of injuries back there and switched the players around — we played nine different players there during the season. With the potential that's returning, next year should be our best."

WESTCHESTER

Hal Henderson attempts to stop an opponent as Rick Stottlemeyer rushes to his aid.

Jack Cerone is sure that the Braves will win!

Tackle Keith McFadden halts an offensive rush by the other team.

Eric Nelson and Tim Sechrest wonder how the game will turn out.

Teamwork gave the Braves solidity.

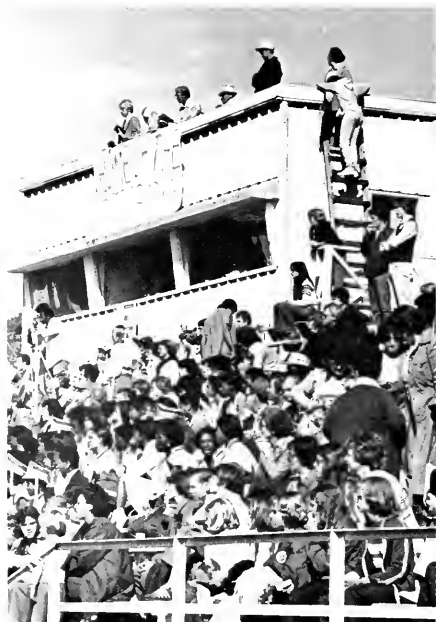

The Braves' coaches this season were: Back row — Aaron Hicks, Jim Garrison. Front row — Randy Miller, Linwood Ferguson, Jerry Hawkins.

Homecoming:

The Day The Game Stood Still

The 1978 Homecoming Game was characterized by a close loss to Ferrum and an impatient wait for the referees to show up. Due to a clerical error, the appointed referees were told it was an evening game instead of mid-afternoon. The game delay lasted well over an hour. The Homecoming court was presented during the wait, as well as the halftime band activities.

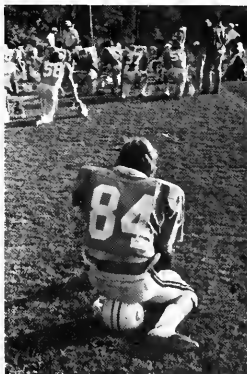

FERRUM TAKES CHOWAN 17-16

The halftime band waited quietly for the game to begin.

Football isn't all glamour and high pay...many an injury was suffered by Chowan this season.

HOMECOMING

Every year the student body of Chowan College nominates a few of the more beautiful girls to become part of the Homecoming court. Of this years' candidates, Terri Calfee (right) and Joanne Collins (far right) were elected to the uppermost positions, with Terri Calfee as princess and Joanne Collins crowned as queen (below).

(Above) The Chowan Cheerleaders did a great job this year. Their terrific support followed the Chowan athletes from football to baseball.

The Chowan College 1978 Volleyball Team finished its season by winning third place in the NJCAA Region 10 Volleyball Tournament and by placing two girls on the All-Region Team and one girl on the All Tournament Team. It was a building year for the team, starting five freshmen and one sophomore. The team came into its own by winning its last three matches. The Team was led by Co-Captains Jan McKay and Georgia Ross. Next year's prospects look good — they have four starters returning and several substitutes developing into steady players. The team record was 7-17.

Chowan College, under the tutelage of second year coach Jerry Smith, experienced its most successful basketball season in the school's history. The Braves won its second straight Eastern Tarheel regular season championship, posting an unblemished 8-0 league mark and a 23-7 cage finish:

Sophomores Randolph Bell (41) and William Bogues (30) defend against a Newport News jumper. Teammate Robin Hoey (24) comes up from the rear to assist. The three cagers were instrumental in leading Chowan to a 43-15 record over the past two seasons.

This band of Chowan followers faithfully cheered their Braves on, but not hard enough obviously, for the Braves went down in defeat at the hands of Brevard Junior College, 58-57 in the finals of Region 10 tournament play.

Above, Chowan's Allen Porter must make the decision of whether to drive past Brevard's crafty Brian Horton or whether to hit an open teammate for the easy back-door basket. Top right, center Randolph Bell takes a breather during a Brave timeout, while forward William Bogues (foreground) and guard Robin Hoey listen pensively to instructions given by Brave head coach Jerry Smith.
